Continent 8 Partners with New Jersey to Open New Data Center at Atlantic City Convention Center: Creating the Hub for Sports Betting and Online Gaming in the United States and Beyond

LAS VEGAS, NV – October 9, 2018 – New Jersey-licensed Continent 8 Technologies, the world’s largest iGaming data center and global network solutions provider, is opening a new data center at the Atlantic City Convention Center in partnership with the CRDA (Casino Reinvestment Development Authority). Designed to Tier 3 standards, the data center will help make New Jersey the largest hub for online gaming, sports betting, and eSports in the United States.

This expansion fortifies Continent 8’s commitment to Atlantic City and fulfills their pledge to create an online gaming hub designed for real-time data exchange. It will provide direct connectivity to their private global network spanning over 30 locations across Europe, Asia, and North and South America.

In addition to increasing capacity in New Jersey, the new data center will include connectivity to Mississippi, Nevada, New York, Pennsylvania and West Virginia locations, as well as providing a secure data redundancy and disaster recovery facility from which to host online gaming operators’ most critical online operations. Operators seeking to enter the New Jersey and broader US market will benefit from this Atlantic City online gaming hub, its connection to the largest online gaming global network, and Continent 8’s cyber security services.

Continent 8 is the only independent information technology provider licensed by New Jersey’s Division of Gaming Enforcement to supply data center and network services to online gaming licensees. Interested online gaming operators are encouraged to contact Continent 8 (www.continent8.com) to speak with their team of global experts and secure capacity before the market becomes saturated.
